Nazi Raiders Driven Back Says London

Series Of Spirited Air Battles Rage Near British Capital

AT LEAST TWENTY NAZI PLANES LOST

Some Damage Done On Southeastern Coast By Dive Bombers

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 4.—Two more air raid warnings sounded in London today as Royal air force planes, in a series of spirited battles, drove back German raiding craft which crossed the southeast coast and lashed out against the British capital.

The second warning came when 40 Nazi bombers, escorted by fighters, attempted to enter the Thames estuary. They were driven back over the North Sea by anti-aircraft and R. A. F. fighters. One German plane was shot down.

Drop 50 Bombs

Late this afternoon, a squadron of 16 German bombers dropped at least 50 bombs on a southeast coast town.

Swooping down from 6,000 feet in the face of heavy anti-aircraft fire, the bombers unloosed their string of missles over one important building. Several houses were wrecked and other damage done to the residential area. Casualties were slight.

By 4:30 p. m., it was estimated that at least 20 German planes had been downed.

Earlier, two Heinkel bombers, accompanied by six fighters, dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs at a point on the southeast coast.

An official statement said:

Labor Day, to many, was just another day in the week, from the appearances of the back yards of many residents, Pa Newc noticed. The usual weekly wash hung out on the line, in spite of the shadows and threats of a downpour of rain at intervals throughout the morning and afternoon hours.

Deal For Naval Bases Deepens Controversy On Bill For Conscription

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Congressional foes of conscription, facing predicted defeat, today pinned their hopes on a battle in the house for an amendment postponing the draft for 60 days in order to give the volunteer system of military enlistment a further trial.

The amendment, which failed by a two vote margin in the senate conscription fight, will be offered in the house tomorrow by Rep. Fish (R) N. Y.

Under its terms, the president would first call for 800,000 volunteers. He would be authorized to draft men only if the volunteer

Dismiss Teacher At Wilmerding

Action Taken Result Of Signing Petition Of Communist Party

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 4.—A Wilmerding high school teacher was fired today because he signed a communist election petition.

James Gillies, a science instructor who formerly taught at Turtle Creek, said that he was not a communist but had signed a petition presented by a communist party worker he had known since childhood "because I believe in the rights of minority groups."

He planned an appeal under the teachers tenure act.

A registered letter was sent to Gillies advising him that he had been dismissed on grounds of "immorality and incompetency", according to Principal Norman Reist.

"Any act which has a bad effect on the public welfare is immoral and by reason of unfavorable comment and resentfulness of parents Mr. Gillies' usefulness as a teacher for us has terminated," Walter D. Ferree, school board secretary, stated.

Hitler Asserts Air Raids Will Be Intensified

Declares Attacks Upon Britain Are To Be Greatly Increased

CERTAIN BRITAIN SOON TO COLLAPSE

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BERLIN Sept. 4—A sharp new warning that England and the British Empire face "collapse" under relentless pounding from the Rome-Berlin Axis was voiced by Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler tonight.

In a speech at the Berlin sportpalast inaugurating the annual Nazi winter relief fund the Fuehrer said:

"I know only one date, and that is the date of England's collapse.

"If it is said in England: 'Why does the collapse not come? Here is the answer: 'I am sure it will come.' "

Recalling his previous peace efforts, the Fuehrer said:

"I have offered my outstretched hand to England so often.

"An understanding with England was the aim of my foreign policy.

"Now I prefer to fight until a clear decision has been reached."

To Intensify Attacks

The next stage of the conflict, Hitler said, will be intensification of Germany's air war upon England to an extent hitherto undreamed of.

"For three months," he said, "I forebore to answer indiscriminate British raids directed against Ger-

United States Will Seek More Air-Naval Bases

Additional Defense Bases To Be Sought In Atlantic And Pacific Areas

CONGRESS DIVIDED ON BRITISH DEAL

Funds To Improve Bases Secured From Britain To Be Asked At Once

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—Determined to insulate the western hemisphere against "nations seeking world conquest," the United States prepared today to acquire additional air and naval bases in both the Atlantic and Pacific areas.

With the nation apparently approving President Roosevelt's momentous exchange of 50 overage destroyers for the right to establish defense outposts on eight British possesions along the Atlantic seaboard, diplomatic officials indicated that further measures to fortify the new world are impending.

The official attitude of the state department is that "in the face of increasing danger," and with some nations possibly embarked on a program of world conquest, it is necessary to move quickly in consolidating defenses in this hemisphere.

Public Schools Open For Year

Thousands Of Boys And Girls Return To School Today

FEW CHANGES IN TEACHING STAFF

Students of the public schools returned to their class rooms today and the opening of the 1939-40 school term was on. Just what percentage of the total enrollment was present at the first session was not available at noon but school authorities thought the average was higher than usual.

The teachers met with the principals of their buildings on Tuesday and were ready to get under way immediately this morning. Another feature that made it possible for the schools to get going immediately was the fact that ther. are few if any new faces in the schools this term. The turnover of teachers this year is the smallest it has ever been.

One new principal joins the New Castle schools this year Clare B. Book, who becomes the principal of the Rose Avenue, Thaddeus Stevens, Oak Street and West Side schools. In each building there will be a principal teacher to act in the principal's place during his absence.

Few vacancies were seen in the teaching staff and these were quickly filled with substitutes. The summer vacation is over, work commences, school has started.

Council referred the mayor's request to a committee which has to draft a proposal for submission later.

Air Raid Alarm In Berlin Extends For Period Of Two And Half Hours

By PIERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Sept. 4.—British planes which flew over Berlin at midnight but dropped no bombs were responsible for an air raid alarm which aroused residents from their beds in the early hours of the morning, an official announcement said today.

The warning sirens sounded at 12:05 a. m. (6:05 p. m. Tuesday EDT) and the all-clear was not given for two hours and 35 minutes.

According to the official statement, the British planes passed over the city at a great height, soaring overhead at intervals and dropping a few flares.

Anti-aircraft guns and German pursuit planes immediately went into action.

"Planes Misled"

Another announcement said that enemy planes which penetrated over German territory during the night "obviously were misled" by fire from German anti-aircraft batteries which had changed their positions.

German fighting planes battled one British Bristol Blenheim bomber near a south Berlin airport but the British plane escaped and dodged searchlight batteries by executing a tremendous dive, it was stated.

Another British plane collided with a barrage balloon near Magdeburg and crashed, authorities said.

A third announcement stated that German bombers in their daylight attacks on Britain yesterday caused

Destroyer-Naval Base Deal Draws Fire From Spokesmen For Italy

By PERCY WINNER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROME, Sept. 4.—Italy cannot remain "disinterested" over the Anglo-American destroyer-naval base deal, official Italian spokesmen declared today.

No hint of any possible retaliatory action was given. But while the Italian press fulminated in even more stronger fashion than Berlin newspapers, high quarters in Rome interpreted the move as one of outright American military assistance to Great Britain.

Virginio Gayda, the authoritative Fascist editor, declared the agreement increased the risk of American involvement in the war.

"We knew long ago," Gayda wrote in the Giornale D'Italia, "that Britain and France were preparing to finance the war by means of colonial concessions to the United States, but we did not imagine the first step would be taken so soon.

"Will Soon Be Sunk"

"These old destroyers will soon be sunk and won't suffice for Britain's needs, which are primarily airplanes, food, munitions and oil.

President Seeks To Exnlain Deal For Destroyers

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—In an apparent move to allay congressional criticism, President Roosevelt today summoned his legislative leaders to the White House to give them a full explanation of his negotiations with Great Britain which stroyers being exchanged for air and resulted in 50 overage U. S. denaval base rights on British possessions.

The move came as government officials hinted that there might be further deals made by which still other bases would be acquired not only in the Atlantic, but in the Pacific ocean as well.

Congressional leaders who conferred with Mr. Roosevelt were Speaker Bankhead of the House, Senate Majority Leader Barkley, Senator Byrnes (D) S. C., one of the administration's Senate spokesmen, House Majority Leader Rayburn and Rep. Sol Bloom, chairman of the House foreign affairs committee.

State Delegation Vote On Draft Bill Will Follow Partisan Lines

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—The Pennsylvania congressional delegation will split pretty closely along partisan lines on the pending conscription bill, a survey disclosed today.

If the measure retains a "draft industry" feature such as approved by the senate, the 19 Pennsylvania Republicans in the house are expected to vote almost solidly against it.

The 15 Keystone Democrats in the lower body, on the other hand, have almost to a man indicated their support of the measure, with or without the controversial feature.

Rep. Rutherford, a Pennsylvania Republican who serves on the House Military Affairs Committee and also often acts as the GOP "whip" for the delegation, declared that if the industrial draft is retained "there won't be a Pennsylvania Republican in favor of the bill."

"If that feature is removed, I think some of the Republicans may move over, but I don't know," he added. "For myself, if the bill is kept as it was originally planned—a measure merely to train our young men and keep them in this country in case of future need—I probably would support it. I certainly won't support it if it attempts to socialize the country."

(International News Service)

COLUMBIA, La., Sept. 4.—Three of five escaped Arkansas convicts, their path to freedom blocked by one of the greatest posses ever organized in Louisiana, today peacefully surrendered.

In surrendering, the convicts released the hostages that they had kept in their custody.

(International News Service)

COLUMBIA, La., Sept. 4.—A heavily armed posse of more than 500 men, aided by 100 state policemen, stood guard early today around a wooded swamp near Columbia where four or five desperate escaped convicts were believed trapped with three young hostages.

The convicts were among the 36 who fled Monday from the Arkansas state prison farm in the biggest break in the state's penal history. They were trailed to the swamp yesterday and one of their number, Frank Conley, 34, who was serving 21 years for kidnaping and robbery, was shot to death by possemen as he tried to make a dash out of the woods.

Sometime this morning the possemen planned to rush the desperadoes in their hideaway.

"If they don't surrender, we'll have to shoot it out," a deputy sheriff said.

Efforts of the manhunters to capture the convicts were hampered by their fear of harming two 16-year-old girls and a boy the felons had kidnaped at Rayville, La., late Monday when they took the youths' car. The three young captives were Vincille Williams, 16, Gladys Diamond, 16, and Jerry Harrigal, 17.

Willkie Meets State Leaders Thursday

First Big Scale 'Pow-Wow' Seen

Twenty-Two States To Be Represented At Conference At Rushville

COME FROM SECTION EAST OF MISSISSIPPI

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

RUSHVILLE, Ind., Sept. 4—Wendell L. Willkie today made plans for the reception of state chairmen and national committee members of 22 states who will come to Rushville Thursday for the first large scale organization "pow-wow" the candidate has had.

Indications are that the session will be more of a pep meeting than a conference. Willkie is in the driver's seat for his own campaign owing to the fact that his nomination came not from any force within the organization but from independents, organized and unorganized, outside the party machinery.

Included in the group of representatives invited to attend are those from the New England states, the Atlantic states and from states—roughly—east of the Mississippi and north of the Mason-Dixon line. These states will not be visited in the candidate's first big campaign swing which covers the west and which starts from Rushville on September 14.

A few of the states, such as Iowa and Illinois, will see the candidate in back-platform appearances from his campaign train, but where no major speech is scheduled an invitation has gone to attend the Thursday session.

Willkie yesterday heard both of President Roosevelt's Labor Day speeches, but had no comment to offer at the moment. However, it was indicated by aides that he will answer both and probably from the angle that they are political speeches.

It was also considered possible here that Chairman Joe Martin, in Washington, may ask equal radio time for Willkie to answer the president on the ground that the Labor Day addresses were political speeches.

DEAL FOR NAVAL BASES DEEPENS CONTROVERSY

quotas remained unfilled after a 60-day period.

Administration leaders, however, rejected all compromise proposals as they sought to push the conscription bill to passage. Even bitter foes of the measure conceded that it will pass the house by a comfortable margin.

Controversy Increased

The house plunged into its second day of debate on the bill today, with the controversy deepened by President Roosevelt's dramatic action in transferring 50 destroyers to Great Britain without asking congressional sanction.

Conscription foes asserted that the president's action would strengthen their forces and swing many votes from the draft bill.

After an uproarious start, house debate assumed a more sober tone, but a tense atmosphere and air of bitterness prevailed.

Rep. Smith (D) Conn., predicted approval of his compromise for the senate, draft-industry amendment which was flayed by Republican presidential nominee Wendell Willkie. Under the Smith amendment, the president can only commandeer, not condemn, industrial plants for the duration of the draft law if they fail to agree to produce munitions. Compensation to the plants is compulsory.

Seeks Modification

Rep. Vinson (D) Ga., chairman of the naval affairs committee, sought a further modification, which would require the national defense commission—composed largely of businessmen—to advise the president when an industrial plant has failed to cooperate in the defense program. Plant seizure would be postponed until the commission had a chance to induce the plant owner to accept an order.

Republican candidate Willkie, it was learned, telephoned Republican congressional leaders for a copy of the Smith amendment.

Rep. May (D) Ky., chairman of the house military affairs committee emphatically denied charges of conscription foes that the draft is sought preparatory to United States entrance into war.

"The only thing we are preparing for is the defense of the United States, and many of us believe that, if Great Britain falls, we'll have a job on our hands," he said.

Has Hurt Draft

"I think that the president's action in flouting congress and transferring 50 destroyers to a belligerent has hurt the bill," said Rep. Short (R) Mo., leading the fight against the draft. "If the president is going to use materials of war without authority of law, who can trust him? If he sends ships, why not men?"

Rep. Brown (R) O. demanded that the government—by holding of a secret session of congress if necessary—inform members whether England is likely to fall soon and whether Germany is likely to attack the United States.

But these sharp Republican attacks upon Mr. Roosevelt apparently solidified Democratic support for the draft bill.

"If we could keep the partisan issue out, there would be 100 Democrats against the bill," said Rep. Anderson (D) Mo.

UNITED STATES WILL SEEK MORE AIR-NAVAL BASES

British Guiana, and Antigua, negotiations for bases in Brazil, Venezuela and other Latin American areas were reported to be in progress.

American defense experts are anxious to obtain an aviation base in Northern Brazil to buttress defense centers in the vicinity of the Panama Canal. Sources close to President Roosevelt reported that strengthening of the defense at Greenland is desired by the American government.

Possibility that defense bases also might be established on Dutch and French new world possessions and operated jointly by the United States and Latin American Republics should not be ruled out, diplomatic sources said.

"Unneutral" Act

Although congressional isolationists condemned the historic Anglo-American destroyer defense base swap as an unneutral act, it appeared unlikely that any move would be made to withhold funds to construct the new bases. The deal generally received enthusiastic approval in congress.

Chairman Vinson (D) Ga., of the pointed out that congress already has appropriated $10,000,000 for "outlying air bases." This money he explained, could be used to start work on the British sites. Vinson also advanced the possibility that the president might use some of the $200,000,000 voted by congress recently for the establishment of new naval facilities.

While no congressional move to hinder the president's action was in prospect, administration critics are certain to denounce Mr. Roosevelt's failure to inform congress of the Anglo-American transaction until after it had been effected.

Dispute Contention

Some senators disputed the contention of Attorney General Jackson that Mr. Roosevelt had ample legal authority to exchange the destroyers for British bases. Sen. Walsh (D) Mass., chairman of the senate naval affairs committee, is expected to assail the exchange on the senate floor later this week. Sen. Adams (D) Col., insisted that 'the very fact that England wants these destroyers obviates the contention that they are overage and useless."

Some senators privately favored a congressional hearing at which state department and defense officials would be asked to furnish "more complete" details regarding the destroyer-naval base deal. They were anxious to find out if the agreement would permit British war ships to use the facilities to be erected by the United States.

The British government has officially notified the state department that if Germany conquers England, the British fleet would be sent overseas, possibly to the western hemisphere and Australia. Contention by isolationists senators that England does not possess sufficient naval bases in the western hemisphere to service any substantial number of her warships raised the question of future British use of the U. S. defense bases to be built in the eight territories acquired yesterday.

The isolationist senators also wish to determine if the administration has promised the British government anything more than the destroyers. President Roosevelt and Secretary of the State Hull, indicated that the destroyers were the sole consideration given by this government for the right to establish bases on the British territories. The correspondent of British ambassador Lord Lothian confirming the agreement however, stated that the United States would supply "naval and military equipment and material."

PREMIER QUITS IN OUTBREAK IN RUMANIA

were evident beneath the surface as popular resentment kept rising against cession of half of Transylvania to Hungary, as dictated by the Rome-Berlin axis.

(According to reports in Budapest, the attempt to assassinate Carol was carried out by a young Iron Guardist in uniform who fired several shots at the royal palace in Bucharest, shouting:

("Down with Carol!")

Reports from Cluj, historic Transylvanian capital, said Rumanian troops were retiring from the ceded territory in orderly fashion and that the atmosphere there was calmer.

These reports added that Julio Maniu, former Rumanian premier and peasant party leader—a dogged opponent of concessions to Hungary—had decided to withdraw from the ceded region and carry on resistance from Rumanian territory.

Air Raid Warnings

Adding to the general state of jitters, air raid warning sirens screeched in Bucharest at 1:30 a. m. Authorities stated the warning was sounded "without cause".

Amid reports that the disorders were part of an alleged Iron Guard plot to overthrow King Carol's regime and put his son, Crown Prince Michael on the throne, the Iron Guard organization today continued its vigorous campaign against the enforced settlement with Hungary.

Pamphlets were distributed in the streets demanding establishment of a "tribunal to try those guilty of the catastrophe which has befallen the country."

The Rumanian interior ministry issued a statement saying that a young man in uniform had fired several pistol shots in front of the royal palace and had been arrested immediately.

(Editor's Note: The London Daily Express published a Bucharest dispatch stating three unidentified assailants attempted to take the palace guard by surprise. One managed to reach the driveway leading to the palace and fired seven shots at a lighted window before he was surrounded and overcome, the Express said.)

The interior ministry asserted that the government is in complete mastery of the situation.

(Reports received in Budapest, Hungary, said some of the Rumanian demonstrators had been killed. Hundreds were reported under arrest.)

known, but posse members expressed belief they may not have been harmed and that the convicts hoped to use them to "bargain" for their freedom.

Two Dash For Freedom

Columbia, La., Sept. 4—In a mad dash for freedom, two of five escaped Arkansas desperadoes emerged from the woods north of Columbia today, commandeered an automobile, kidnaped the driver and sped off in the direction of Monroe, authorities reported.

The two convicts held up A. L. Heinton and, holding him as hostage sped north along the Columbia-Monroe highway, the sheriff's office said.

Report of this latest kidnaping reached the sheriff's office after a woman, Mrs. Yeke Williams, reported the convicts had attempted to hold her up at about the same spot.

to comment, it was indicated that the destroyers had been bunched in squadrons of four each for a northward dash to Canada. Some have come from Hampton Roads, Va., it was stated however.

Strict silence was maintained to prevent any possible leak as to what course the destroyers would take out of Boston and what port in Canada would be their destination. All orders were sent direct to destroyer commanders by radio from Washington.

While navy officials maintained strictest secrecy, it was learned that 12 of the reconditioned destroyers already are at the Charleston Navy Yard. Two of them, the Goldsborough and the Welles, have been in East Boston drydocks undergoing overhaulings. The others will be refitted and groomed.

Previous plans were to hold the state committee meeting in Pittsburgh. The official call for the meeting will be issued by Torrance following his return from Indiana.

Present indications are that Willkie will not be able to attend the Young Republican convention, although leaders of the group have not given up hope of his being present. According to the Republican candidate's present plans he will leave Coffeyville, Kansas, on September 16 for a two weeks tour which will take him to San Francisco on September 21, winding up his western tour towards the end of September in Detroit. Following that Willkie will tour the eastern states.

after crossing the Thames estuary, made a similar attempt against airdromes in Essex.

"The enemy was promptly engaged by our fighters and anti-aircraft. Only a few of them succeeded in penetrating our defenses.

"Only a few bombs were dropped and so far as is known there was no serious damage and no casualties."

Fortieth Alarm

London's newest alarm—fortieth of the war—was sounded when a formation of enemy planes passed over a town not far from the Thames estuary, close to the British capital. This sortie followed a night of sporadic German attacks against various sections of Great Britain.

During the morning German planes made several determined attempts to break through southeastern coastal defenses and a large number of Nazi bombers and fighters participated in these attempts.

Each time they came over they were hotly engaged by British fighters and ground defenses and only once did they manage to approach within warning distance of London.

Unofficial estimates at noon placed the German losses at more than 10 planes in these battles, in addition to a few others reported shot down in other parts of the country.

BRITISH PLANES CAUSE LONGEST BERLIN ALARM

"such conflagrations that German night raiders were able to navigate without maps."

Several important military objectives in southern England were bombed successfully during the night, according to this statement.

Several British planes which approached Berlin around midnight from the north were met by heavy ground fire and forced to turn back. They were last reported heading back to England.

Two Planes Break Through

It was admitted, however, that two British planes, under cover of a fog, broke through the anti-aircraft barrage and dropped flares upon the German capital.

Two other squadrons of British bombers were reported caught by heavy ground fire between Berlin and Magdenburg. Several of the British planes were shot down, it was claimed, and several others "exploded in midair."

The air raid alarm was the longest Berlin has yet experienced and kept residents of the capital in shelters and cellars for about two and a half hours.

Athletic Director Emmett Gillaspie of the Ben Franklin junior high school was back on the job today, with some real fishing pictures to show the boys of the Ben Franklin school who took part in the fishing contest last spring. committee, declared that "I don't think there will be a Pennsylvania Democratic vote against it."

Faddis said he himself was undecided about the draft industry provision.

Both Reps. Eberharter and Walter, Pennsylvania Democrats, publicly announced their support of the conscription bill.

Rep. Van Zandt (R) Pa., declared he had not as yet made up his mind how he will cast his vote when the final roll call comes later in the week.

One Pennsylvania Republican, however — Rep. Simpson — said he was "inclined to be for the bill.

"There are some features, however, that need clearing up," he went on. "One thing particularly that I don't like is the provision that after these boys are trained for one year they must become part of the army reserve for ten years after that. That means that even though after they complete their training and get married and have several children, they will be the ones called upon in case of war."

DINNER AT COTTAGE OPENS A. B. D. SEASON

Another busy season was launched for the A. B. D. society Tuesday evening when they gathered as guests of Mrs. Harold Heck in her delightful summer home, located just beyond New Wilmington, where they enjoyed a dinner party. This marked their first assemblage since the summer recess period, and much enthusiasm was shown, with an eagerness to get into the swing of their fall and winter program. Mrs. William J. Caldwell is president of the organization.

At 6:30 o'clock the group was served a deliciously prepared full course dinner at a nicely appointed table. Places marked for 33 guests.

Following, Mrs. Paris Shoaff introduced as guest speaker Dr. J. J. McIlvaine, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. He gave an especially interesting talk on his recent trip to Pikesville Junior college, situated at Pikesville, Ky., an institution for under-privileged children. He told of the opportunities provided for students, and related the results of many becoming professional people of the world, which is most gratifying. He recited a number of instances, and in closing stated "I am impressed and proud of belonging to a church supporting such a good cause."

Four new members were given a cordial welcome into the society, Mrs. Paul Welsh, Mrs. Jack Lamoree, Mrs. Charles Young and Mrs. William Langan.

Mrs. Arthur Foster, who conducted the religious hour, also gave a report of the new year book.

The committee aiding Mrs. Heck as co-hostesses for the dinner party included Mrs. Norman Martin, Mrs. Arthur Foster, Mrs. Paris Shoaff and Miss Margaret Weinschenk.

The next meeting will be held on the regular date in the church, with the following committee in charge: Mrs. Joseph Weinschenk, Mrs. J. B. Foster, Mrs. Robert Garland and Mrs. C. W. Chain.

A social time ensued, when Mrs. Donald Hackett was given a shower of gifts, this being carried out by David Hackett, five year old nephew, who made the presentation.

Lunch was a later pleasure, the table being artistically arranged with flowers and lighted tapers, a cluster of red roses adorning the center. Places marked for twelve at the main table, and the remaining guests totaling twenty four, were accommodated at several smaller ones, nicely appointed.

Serving as co-hostesses were Mrs. Hackett, Miss Virginia Davis and Mrs. Alfred Walker.

GERMANY'S IRON GRIP ON FRANCE

IN "asking" the Vichy government to quit issuing "false reports" comparing German and French airplane losses in the recent hostilities, Berlin bears out Marshal Petain's remark to newspaper correspondents the other day. He said, rather unnecessarily: "I do not pretend that this government is free."

According to a French Air Ministry communique the French lost 306 planes up to June 10 and the Germans 982. Berlin retorts that when the armistice was signed the entire French air force had been destroyed. Whatever the truth of the matter, the temerity of the French authorities in boasting of the efficiency of their air force was cause for surprise, since it was an evident bid for trouble.

Now comes word from Vichy that France's standing army has been reduced almost to the 100,000 limit prescribed by the armistice. The process has been carried out under the eyes of German officers and there is to be no repetition by France, of the game worked by Germany after the World War, to recruit its armed forces on the instalment plan.

Marshal Petain has further remarked: "The Germans hold the rope and twist it whenever they consider the accord is not being carried out." The world is well aware of that fact, despite the marshal's previous, confusing protestations that he enjoys a broad measure of discretion in conducting the Vichy regime.

MILITARIZED ROADS ARE COSTLY

To insure that Pennsylvania's 3,000 miles of improved roads would be fully serviceable for military purposes under all conditions would cost approximately $27,000,000.

This is the figure named in a survey by the State Highway Department, which is forwarding the report to the federal government in response to the president's call for this information.

Obviously our highways were not designed and built, in any specific sense, with military requirements in mind, certainly not those created by the new science of mechanized warfare as disclosed by the Nazi armies in recent campaigns.

Of course the state could hardly assume the huge cost of overcoming that situation. It is up to the federal government if such elaborate changes and improvements must be made. But it would be poor policy to leave such highways in this and other states in such shape that they wouldn't stand up during large scale military operations.

NEW ART PATRON

It is interesting, but by no means surprising, to learn that Billy Rose, the supershowman of New York, has started a collection of paintings by old masters which he hopes some day will be important enough to will to the public.

The man who conceived the idea of combining beauty with acquatic skill at the New York World's Fair has a considerable knowledge of human nature and has benefited handsomely by it. But to all intents and purposes, Billy Rose, while comparable to that great showman of another age, P. T. Barnum, does not share Barnum's credo.

"The money that I have made has come from the public," says Billy Rose in a not very original statement. "If my collection grows important enough to warrant turning it over to the public after my death, I think that would be the logical thing to do." That doesn't sound like a man who caters to the public's whim and whose sole interest in life seems to be the indoor and outdoor sport of making money. If anything, that sounds like philanthropy.

That's a new title for Billy Rose—Billy the philanthropist. From now until the New York Fair ends in late October those who buy reserved seats for Billy's spectacle and find they are compelled to stand somewhere on steps that originally were an aisle, will have the satisfaction of knowing that they are helping future generations to an enjoyment of Old Masters.

THE CLASS OF 1952

"Meet the class of 1952."

It is a solemn thought. Many a mother feels the silence of the home oppressive after the sound of little feet on the schoolward way has ceased. Memories force tears when momentous changes come to the home.

Yesterday, "babies;" today, pupils! What dignity is added, what transformation is worked by the addition of primer and copybook. Tomorrow, scholars! There are vast possibilities in that word. In 1952, graduates. And then what?

What possibilities are among them? One may later be President of the United States of America. Among them may be governors and legislators. Among them may be genius that will transform the whole vast industrial system of the nation, perhaps of the world. One might by a single invention change the whole course of the world's industrial history and lift the plane of living of humanity so far above that of this time as to make this age seem primitive.

And some may fail. Some by the bad example of elders, the error in judgment of a teacher, the faulty moral safeguards of society—or in spite of all that can be done for him—may go wrong and learn the ways of crime.

Twelve years will roll by before graduation day of 1952. Four presidents may direct the affairs of the nation from the White House. Vast changes in policy may affect the prospects of the graduates of 1952. What the world has in store for them is the responsibility of the citizenry of today and of those coming twelve years. To be intrusted with a commission to get a world ready to receive those innocents should make the men and women of today thoughtful.

Mrs. Roosevelt says this is to be a different kind of a campaign. At least the Republicans hope it turns out differently.

Taxpayers will not have to start paying those new income defense taxes until next March. But there are a few others to pay in the meantime, to get them into good practice when the time arrives.

"A man in diplomacy is like a man on roller skates," says Senator Ashurst. "He goes partly where he would like to go and partly where the skates take him." And spends part of his time picking splinters out of himself.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FORCING FOOD ON BABY

I DO sometimes wish that some pediatricians could read about 1,000 typical letters I receive on problems mothers face to get their babies to eat. Then more of these pediatricians would become interested in the psychology of appetite and would realize they don't do enough when they tell the mother what to feed the child and how much; that they also need to show this mother how to cultivate an appetite in the child for this food, how to lead the child to want to eat it. Then fewer doctors would give such advice as the mother in the letter below says was given her.

Forcing Food on Child

"Dear Dr. Myers: I am at my wit's end as to what to do about getting my baby to eat. She is eleven months old . . . The doctor told me to force her to eat. When I did she became ill; he said not to pay any attention to her sickness, just to go ahead feeding her. This morning I did just that, and when it was time for her to eat lunch she refused. She didn't become ill, but she wouldn't swallow the spinach or beets. She would push them out of her mouth just as fast as I would put them in. And she was crying and getting upset and so was I. I just had to stop feeding her because I was almost hysterical."

Although it is true that a very slight amount of resistance to a new food might be overcome by pushing a tiny bit of it into the baby's mouth, by gradual adaptation; yet if this child's resistance increases instead of diminishing this food grows more repellant and the child's resistance to all food may increase.

The trouble is the mother expects the baby to eat what she offers and all of it right away. She is told what he should have and how much. Then if the child doesn't choose to eat it she proceeds to force it into him. Moreover, her unhappy emotions increase all the while and in turn increase the child's resistance and decrease his appetite. If she is to succeed she will not bother about how much the child eats today nor about his weight now. She will think only in terms of cultivating gradually his appetite so he will be eating well and weigh enough a month or two hence.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

FROM DUNKIRK

The evacuation of the English from Dunkirk was and still is the most dramatic event of World War No. 2. The taking of three hundred thousand men across the Channel in practically a bridge of little boats was a tremendous performance. Perhaps Hitler thinks he can transport a like force to England in much the same way. That remains to be seen, but it has not been done yet.

The English publication "Punch" following that performance published a poem called "The Day of Little Ships." It is sort of a seagoing poem, commemorating the event as was the charge of the six hundred at Balaklava. Here are a couple of stanzas:

They dared the hell of the shell-swept dunes
The hell of the bomb-torn tide,
They cared not a damn if they sank or swam
Nor yet if they lived or died.

Home they came from that coast of death
Each with her tale of men;
Stayed but to set them ashore—and so
Back to hell's mouth again.

Just Folks

THE PEOPLE'S FRIEND

Once more we meet the people's friend,
Of every party he!
A man on whom we can depend
To serve unselfishly.
By all let's have it understood,
(Not just to make the rhyme)
He only serves the public good
About election time.

He seeks not glory, but the task.
Performance is his pride,
Whatever citizens may ask
He'll promise to provide.
His record's absolutely clean
And free from stain of crime,
This friend who comes upon the scene
About election time.

He'll guarantee to rid our lives
Of taxes old and new.
He'll dance the rhumba with our wives
And kiss our babies, too.
He'll balance every budget sheet
He'll rid our towns of crime,
This friend of ours, we only meet
About election time.

Yet when the campaign speeches end
And all the hopes and fears.
How strange it is the people's friend
Packs up and disappears!
As higher still the taxes soar
And no one saves a dime,
The people's friend is seen no more
Till next election time.

Hints On Etiquette

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:29. Sun rises tomorrow 5:30.

When hunters apply for their hunting license this fall they will have to prove they have guns that can be used in the defense of this country. Boom!

Wonder what all those old Irish and Dutch settlers on the East Side would think now if they could see Oak street being paved. Many of them waded through the mud on that street over fifty years ago. We were one of them.

Now it is stated in Washington that by spring, 1942 America will be able to match Hitler in the air. And that bird is ready now to match about everything in the world!

A professional man is an educated person in a white collar, writing a check for a stranger who sells wildcat stock.

We often wonder if Hitler don't get nervous when he hears about the billions of dollars we are talking about all the time in this country.

Middlewest cities are organizing eatin' and sufferin' clubs. The members get together and eat. Then a speaker is introduced and everyone suffers.

The more we hear the smear on Willkie the more we are for him.

EXPECTED A LOT

A man bought a canary from an animal dealer.

"You're sure this bird can sing?" he said suspiciously.

"He's a grand singer."

The customer left. A week later he reappeared.

"Say! This bird you sold me is lame."

Well, what did you want—a singer or a dancer?"

A local young man thinks he is having lots of trouble learning to play a saxophone, but he should hear how much trouble the neighbors are having!

We see very little of the original Golden Bantam corn we used to have some years ago. That corn has been fooling around a lot and got mixed up with other kinds of corn.

HOOVER'S MISTAKES

An inspired piece from one of the New Deal Propagandists says that "Hoover was a complete failure." So he was. He failed in a lot of things. He failed to draw out his salary of $75,000.00 a year while he was president, turning it all back into the Treasury. He failed to have his sons organize insurance company firms to write insurance on government enterprises. He built a Rapidan resort for fishing and recreation at his own expense and gave it to the government. None of his sons went racing through the divorce courts to the disillusionment of the public. He never bundled up a lot of government documents to sell as a book to the faithful at a huge profit to himself and he never sold himself into political slavery to a labor organization for a $500,000 campaign fund. He gathered a marvelous collection of war stuff and built a museum for it, but failed to ask congress to pay the bill—he paid it himself.

He did not preach and promote class hatred and he did not try to pack the Supreme Court. He did not plow up every third row of cotton and he did not promise the American people one thing while at the very moment doing everything to accomplish the directly opposite result.

He did not ask congress to assess the taxpayers a billion dollars every time some one shot off a firecracker in Europe, and he did not go on fishink trips on government warships accompanied by a fleet of destroyers. Neither did he kill off all the farmers' little pigs or encourage the importation of Argentine beef in preference to American beef. In fact, there were a lot of foolish things that Hoover didn't do that some other people have done. There are a lot of constructive things he could have done if he had not had the opposition of a democratic congress, but anyway he did not leave the American people $40,000,000,000 in debt.

Mrs. Hoover never made speeches or raced hither and yon on unimportant matters. She nexer wrote silly drivel on her every day life and sold it to the newspapers and she never sold soap over the radio. Her only public appearance was as an honorary member of the Girl Scouts of America. She never invited Communist Youth to the White House as her guests. The Hoover family seem to have made a failure of about everything that goes nowadays.

Most of the real Democrats are for Willkie. Former Republicans who are not for him have a very personal reason for not being for Willkie.

It seems Americans must pay for even ocean water. While we have two oceans to protect us from attack they also give us two coasts necessary to defend.

Very few murderers who kill their relatives to get their insurance money get away with it. The insurance companies see to that.

There was no big meeting held to notify President Roosevelt that he had been nominated for a third term. He attended to that before the convention and told the boys right away he was ready.

Good Taste

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

Courtesy is the most important element in human relationship. Without it, we are as the animal in the jungle. With it, we radiate friendship wherever we go. The boor, no matter how great a mental giant is shunned. The courteous man, no matter how lacking in book knowledge, leaves a lasting impression of fine character. For courtsey is simply a feeling of respect, thoughtfulness and consideration for one's fellow men.

One of the greatest tests of your sense of courtesy is your reactions while riding in a public vehicle. Have you ever noticed the lack of consideration for others that exists there? The boor almost knocks you down dashing in the door to get one of the few remaining seats. He is suffering from swivel chair exhaustion! (He is the type who every night takes the most comfortable chair in the living room, letting his wife have what's left.) It is far better to wear yourself out standing than to make yourself ridiculous rushing madly to sit down for 15 or 20 minutes.

When you find that you have collided with someone, smilingly beg her pardon, whether it was your fault or not. Note the effect you create in comparison with those who glare with an expression indicating: "How dare you?"

Be courteous always, and you will in turn receive courteous treatment.

Reader's Questions Answered

Question: I have been invited to a dinner. Please give me some hints regarding conversation—whether I should talk to the woman on my right or to the one on my left. Any other helpful suggestion will be appreciated.—Boy of Nineteen.

Answer: Address your conversation to both the woman on your right and the one on your left, paying especial attention to your dinner partner. At a large formal dinner, never shout across the table, nor to anyone at a far end. If you tell any stories while at table, they should be short and preferably amusing. Avoid discussing politics, religion or any controversial topic; also illnesses, operations, accidents or any other distressing or unpleasant subjects. Eschew arguments of all kinds. Give a facetious answer to anyone endeavoring to argue with you. Accept each course offered refusing none. And make a pretense at eating even those foods for which you have no fondness.

After you have left the table, see to it that your dinner partner is never alone. She is your "charge" for the evening. If there is dancing approach her first, and arrange subsequent partners for her if she has none. And be sure to say good night to your hostess before you leave.

Tomorrow: Consider Escort's Purse

Why don't New Castle get up some kind of a beauty contest? We have more beauties around here than can be found in most places.

An Erie man who had been given several medals for safe driving was killed when his car was struck by a careless driver. Safe drivers don't seem to be safe either.

ALWAYS AT PAR

President Roosevelt had lots of trouble with various money theorists and still is tring to find a stable currency so some say.

But we have heard of one medium of exchange that has remained constant through the years. This is the kiss. It always has been worth its face value.

Of course it's different when a squad of police do the finger printing. There is always a good reason for that.

The trees on the mountains seem to grow too high for some of the airplane flyers.

"Over there," said a host, "are my grandma's ashes."

"Oh," said the surprised guest, "she's passed on?"

'No," said the host. "She's just too lazy to look for an ash tray."

Hi Hum says when an inquiry is made about a man it is "How much money does he make?" Of a woman it is, "How old is she? Is she good looking?"

One nice thing about the Day of Judgement is that nobody will have the gall to suggest that the Labor Relations Board do it.

A North Hill woman has discovered how to diet pleasantly. By observing four different diets at the same time she gets practically everything she likes to eat.

There is a great fight on for clean politics in this country. It will take clean votes to get that.

It may be our hick bias, but a shaved neck doesn't seem quite as rural as a hairy one that needs braiding.

One prize we'd like to see awarded is a medal to the man who has never found out—nor wanted to—whether or not his car would do 50 miles an hour.

Paish's Tactlessness Worries British Countrymen More Incensed Than We Are Picked Poor Subject For Airing Views

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4. — Sir George Paish, the famous English economist, not only got the Federal Bureau of Investigation after him, as a suspected foreign propagandist in our midst, owing to whatever it was he said to Senator Burton K. Wheeler relative to possible American war participation. He also is being mercilessly panned by English and Canadian sojourners in the country for what they consider the tactlessness of his remarks to the isolationist solon from Montana.

Senator Wheeler's story is that Sir George said, "I am responsible for getting this country (America) into the last war and I intend to get it into this one."

Sir George's account is that he said he "helped get this country into the last war and I intend to present the facts to the American people and let them decide if they should get into this war."

Critics generally concur that it doesn't make much difference which way it was. And when I say "critics" I don't so much mean American critics. The English and Canadian groups decidedly are more incensed with the old economist than American commentators are. Naturally so. The English recognize the danger that such indiscretions aren't calculated to improve their chances of acquiring a fleet of our out-of-date destroyers or of closing a deal for American protection of their New World islands. Canadians are afraid of an unfavorable popular American reaction against the mutually defensive Canadian-American arrangements now so rapidly progressing.

American isolationists, like Senator Wheeler, contrariwise, were somewhat pleased by Sir George's outspokenness. It supplied them with some first rate ammunition.

Mighty Poor Judgment

The aged economist's selection of Senator Wheeler to express himself to certainly was a piece of very poor judgment. If he'd picked some less isolationistic statesman to talk to, the latter might have tried to hush him up. But any polical baby could have told him that the Montana solon would give that chat all the undesirable publicity he could pump into it—and right on the senate floor, whence it would do a maximum of damage.

That one outburst, by itself, alone, probably won't greatly matter in the long run. But they do say that Washington's British ambassador, Lord Lothian, was on the verge of hysterics at the thought of a tour of the whole United States by Sir George, making a series of similar speeches in dozens of cities. Or, if a number of prominent Britons, even at home, were to speak up likewise, and be quoted on this side of the ocean? Oh, murder! The embassy shudders at the idea.

The embassy did, indeed, hastily order Sir George to pipe down, within a few minutes after Senator Wheeler had told his story on Capitol Hill. But Sir George is quite unmanageable. Nevertheless, directly after the warning, the venerable chap passed out a newspaper interview—not quite as bad as his talk with Wheeler, but sufficiently so to scandalize his home embassy.

He'd hardly been heard from, through Senator Wheeler, before it was suggested that he ought to be deported, as an alien propagandist. His embassy didn't waste a second in stating, unofficially, that the sooner he's departed, the better the embassy will like it.

"We wish," quoth an ambassadorial spokesman, "that he could be dropped over Germany as a pamphlet."

An Old Dodo?

I don't know just how the English press is dealing with Sir George. The only top-notch English correspondent in Washington is Sir Willmott Lewis of the London Times and he hasn't told me what he's cabling.

Canadian reporters are thick here, however. They're on the job "covering" the Canadian-American mutual defense dicker. I've seen the dispatches quite a few of them are telegraphing to their papers. The things they say about Sir George Paish are aplenty. The mildest thing they call him is a blankety-blank old dodo. He's 72 and their version is that he's in his second childhood.

England's interest in the matter is as acute as Canada's, but the Limies don't understand us as well as the Canucks do. So Sir George makes the Canucks hotter under the collar than he does the Limies.

The Great Game Of Politics

By FRANK R. KENT

by The Baltimore Sun (Copyright, 1940)

Attacking The Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.

A FEW days ago certain authoritative journalistic reflectors of White House thought and feeling reported that part of the New Deal 1940 strategy would be an attack upon the newspapers. The President and those close to him, it was said, are "fairly itching" to assail the press, and some "heavy shelling" soon may be expected.

ALREADY there is considerable confirmatory evidence of this intention. Nor is it a bad idea—if they can get away with it. It does involve, however, a degree of hypocrisy from which the more scrupulous politicians would shrink. In the first place, it requires repetition of the statement that in 1936 the newspapers were solidly against Mr. Roosevelt. That has been said so often that it has come to be generally accepted. But it happens not to be true.

THE truth is that the bulk of the press in 1936 supported Mr. Roosevelt instead of opposing him. He not only had ninety-nine per cent. of the papers in the South and a majority of the small-town and county papers throughout the country but actually in New York city itself he had far stronger press support than Mr. Landon. The latter was favored by the Herald Tribune, the Hearst papers and the New York Sun. But supporting Mr. Roosevelt were the New York Times, the World-Telegram, the New York Evening Post and the Daily News—the last having a greater circulation than any other daily newspaper in the world. In spite of these facts the New Dealers have kept up the cry that "the press was against us."

THIS time there is real basis for that cry; last time there was none. This time a good many newspapers which supported Mr. Roosevelt in both 1932 and 1936 are not only deeply antagonistic to a third term on principle but have been really sickened by the bogus nature of the "draft" by which this President seeks to break the tradition. They warned against it before his nomination and have revolted since. An example of this is the Cleveland Plain Dealer, which for a hundred years has supported every Democratic candidate — including, of course, Mr. Roosevelt. The Scripps Howard chain of sixteen, all of which supported Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, also has swung away on this issue, and so, too, has the Baltimore Sun, which four years ago was neutral.

BUT, even more than by the swing of the metropolitan press, the third-termers are perturbed by the change in the small-town and rural press. In various sections little papers which have been invariably Democratic are outspoken against the third term. In Virginia, Maryland, New Jersey and many other States, for the first time, these are against the Democratic nominee. A typical illustration is the Hampshire Review of West Virginia, owned by ex-Gov. John Cornwell, who was a delegate to the Chicago Convention.

ASKING what a Democratic paper which wants to be honest can do except tell its readers the truth, the Review editorially says: "The pretense that Mr. Roosevelt was drafted for a third term is so thin and transparent as to be silly. It was planned and accomplished by Federal office-holders with the President's aid and, under his direction, climaxed and rounded up by political machine heads—such humanitarians as Frank Hague, of Jersey City, and Mayor Kelly, of Chicago, who, having seen what happened to Boss Pendergast, of Kansas City, believed their best chance to stay out of trouble and in power was to join with Harry Hopkins, Harold Ickes and the other drafters. They did a good job, particularly Kelly, whose aides packed the convention with thousands of as tough-looking guys as Al Capone ever marshaled."

IT is this sort of stuff from this sort of small-time paper that worries the New Deal outfit more than the defection of 1936 supporting papers in the big cities. Yet it is the city press upon which the attack—so it is stated—is planned. Naturally, the expectation is that it will be led by Mr. Ickes, who has specialized in newspaper vituperation more than any of the other Administration mouth-

Cascade Employees Have Picnic Event

Outing Tuesday Night For Park Employees Brings Seasons Activities To Close

Winding up the season for Cascade Park employees, a picnic dinner in the form of a corn and wiener roast, was held in the grove Tuesday evening, with nearly thirty in attendance.

The duties of taking in cash and handing out tickets for a ride on this and that concession, were forgotten, and all delved into an appetizing menu of corn and wieners.

The serving was in progress at 6:30 o'clock. Following impromptu talks were contributed by Superintendent Chris Coulthard and officer Frank Nessle, most appropriate to the occasion. Jibes here and there on the highlights of their addresses, added spice to the occasion, and the event as a whole, was a huge success.

Special guests of the occasion were Mrs. Eric Fawcett and daughter Margery, of Windsor, Canada, the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace L. Patterson, of Cascade Park.

In addition to Coulthard and Nessle, serving on the committee, were Miss Leona Nolan, George Miller, David Harris, Steve Kuhla, Paul Marakas, and others.

A surprise feature, was the 38th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Eckert, to which a fitting tribute was paid, by the assemblage.

In conclusion, the group made the rounds of the park, taking the last rides on the Merry-Go-Round, the Dodge-Em, a cruise around the lake, and visit to other concessions.

Labir Day marked the official closing of Cascade Park, which has been the mecca for many groups who enjoyed breakfast, luncheon dinner parties. Next season will be even more promising, as Cascade has increased in popularity, by the general public.

The Great Game Of Politics

pieces. He has written a book on the subject. It is, as the politicians slangily say, "Harold's dish." There is nothing he likes better than to snarl at the press. It satisfies certain inherent instincts of his curious nature and at the same time gratifies a highly developed desire for publicity.

HE never overlooks an opportunity and already seems to have laid down his preliminary 1940 barrage. In a very long letter to the New York Times, which that paper printed in full, he denounced the press in general, and the New York Times in particular because it had referred to some of the more abusive expressions in his reply to Mr. Willkie's speech as "mudslinging," at the same time chiding Senator Bridges, Republican, for calling Mr. Ickes a "short-pants Hitler." Mr. Ickes made this an excuse for impugning the motives and integrity of the Times and a general indictment of the newspapers.

THE best refutation of this type of accusation, as well as evidence of its futility, would seem to be the fact that the newspapers continue to print them long after they cease to be news. There certainly is no compulsion upon the part of the newspapers to print Mr. Ickes' frequent effusions, and if newspapers were conducted as Mr. Ickes says they are conducted, of course they would not print them. It is doubtful that Mr. Ickes believes in his own charges, but it does seem that by this time the hollowness of his allegations about the newspapers might be apparent to everybody who reads them in the newspapers.

Woman Discovers That As Infant She Was Saved From Titanic Disaster

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—The alien registration act has caused a Berkley, Mich., housewife to learn that, as an infant 28 years ago, she was rescued from the ill-fated liner Titanic, with the result that she now neither knows her parentage nor her nationality.

This was disclosed today when the woman, Mrs. Laurence Kramer, advised Earle G. Harrison, director of alien registration, that enactment of the new law had prompted her to write the man she believed to be her father—only to discover:

That he was not her father, but her foster parent.

That he had rescued her from the sinking Titanic in 1912 when her real father had placed her in his arms, and that they were picked up by the liner Carpathia.

That she may not be an English citizen as she thought, because her foster parent now informs her that her father had identified himself as "H. J. Allison of Pennsylvania", and her as his daughter, Lorraine Allison.

That her father presumably drowned.

That she has a younger brother, "Travers Allison", who was also rescued from the Titanic.

Here is her own story as she wrote it to Harrison:

"I am writing to you, because you are the only one who can help me. I do not know where I was born. I thought I was born in England, and when I wrote my foster parent for my birth certificate, he wrote back and told me he could not send me a birth certificate because he did not know it.

"He then told me that back in 1912 he was a passenger on the Titanic. He said a man came up to him and put a little girl three or four years old in his arms asking him to take care of this little girl, and that his name was H. J. Allison of Pennsylvania, and that the little girl's name was Lorraine Allison. He then, because of the little girl in his arms, was quickly hustled into a lifeboat, then rescued by the Carpathia. Then when he did not see the man on the Carpathia thought him lost.

"After he lost his own wife and little girl he decided to just say I am his little girl and so he did and I believed him to be my father until he wrote and told me he was not. All he knows is that my name was Lorraine Allison. That's all H. J. Allison told him on the deck, just to save his little girl. . ."

Mrs. Kramer then told Harrison that she had written to Harrisburg, the Pennsylvania capital, to get information on H. J. Allison, but had not secured any, and was still trying to find out the secret of her nationality and the names of her parents. She added that her foster father, whom she did not name, had advised her that she had a younger brother named Travers, but that she did not know his whereabouts.

Will Retaliate

"We will put an end to these British pirates of the night."

The British may attack German cities, Hitler said, but in retaliation German fliers will "eradicate" those of England.

Citing figures to demonstrate the full extent of Nazi reprisals, Hitler said that if the A. A. F. drops a ton of bombs, the German air force will reply with 150 or 200 tons.

"Sooner or later," he said, "one of us must collapse. And it will be England that will collapse."

The Fuehrer predicted that before much time has passed "hundreds of thousands" of pounds of bombs would be strewn over England.

DESTROYER-NAVAL BASE DEAL DRAWS FIRE FROM ITALY

It is a typical example of bankrupt liquidation of the British Empire, but the deal increases the risk of American participation in the war and confirms the commercial basis of Anglo-American solidarity.

"German attacks on Britain have not reached their maximum. They do not represent the total offensive means at disposition of the axis."

"Cession of 50 destroyers, which constitute war material, naturally does not leave Italy disinterested," a spokesman said.

King's Chapel Observes Annual Homecoming

One of the largest crowds that has ever attended a King's Chapel Methodist church homecoming gathered in that church on Sunday for the celebration of the church's, the oldest in Lawrence county, 136th anniversary.

Three services, morning, afternoon and evening, were conducted in the church which was beautifully decorated with flowers for the event.

Following was the order of the morning service, held at 11:15 o'clock, Rev. O. G. Shindledecker, pastor, presiding. Prelude, "How Can I But Love Him", Mrs. T. G. Wallace, pianist; congregational singing, "Holy, Holy, Holy"; Duet, "Under His Wings", by two junior girls from the Sunday school, Joan Chapin and Edna Glenn; scripture lesson, Rev. Shindledecker, followed by pastoral prayer; offertory, "Devotion", Mrs. Wallace; congregation, "Faith of Our Fathers"; reception of members: Mary Belle Glenn, Edna Glenn (daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Glenn), Joan Chapin (daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Chapin), and Dean Wallace (son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Wallace).

Morning Sermon

Rev. Shindledecker delivered the morning sermon on the text, "And God Requireth That Which Is Past", applying it to the church.

Following, the congregation sang "True Hearted, Whole Hearted", after which there was a dismissal prayer, and postlude, "Sortie" in G, by Mrs. Wallace. A lunch and fellowship period followed.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon, several hundred persons joined in the song service to sing the hymns written by a former member of the church, Ira D. Sankey. There was on display at this time, a silver communion service presented by Mrs. Oliver Davis, a sister-in-law of Thomas Greer, dating from shortly after the Civil War, and bearing the inscription: "Shenango M. E. Church, Rogers-Smith and Company, New Haven, Conn., silversmiths". The prelude, by Mrs. Wallace, was "The Sheperd's Idol".

Special Feature

A special feature was the enthusiastic singing by the choir of former years. Numbers such as "Faith is the Victory", "I Am Praying", "Under His Wings" and "Hiding in Thee", were heard during this Sankey song service. Max Luikart, a talented young violinist pleased with a solo, "Souvenir" by Drdla, accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. W. H. Luikart. The afternoon prayer was offered by Rev. Shindledecker. Another feature was the singing of the lovely hymn, "The Ninety and Nine" by Miss Margaret Sankey, cousin of Ira D. Sankey.

The offertory, "Nocturne in A", was played by Mrs. Wallace, followed by a beautiful piano solo, Rachmanioff's "Prelude in C sharp minor", by Idagenne Mitchell. The pastor then read greetings from Miss Ella Porter of Colorado, who requested that "Rock of Ages" be sung for her.

A duet, "Only Shadows", was sung by Mr. and Mrs. John Grittie of Wesley Methodist church, after which Rev. J. A. Cousins, pastor of Croton Methodist church, was introduced and delivered the afternoon's sermon. He chose as his text, "For We Are Laborers Together With God", and covered a wide range of subjects relative to religion, morals and war, proving himself to be a most vital and interesting speaker.

Rev. Shindledecker spoke his thanks to those who assisted in the musical service, and following the congregational hymn, "Trusting Jesus", Rev. Cousins pronounced the benediction.

Evening Service

The prelude, "Offertorio", played by Mrs. Wallace, and the singing of "The Light of the World", "Revive Us Again" and "Jesus Is All the World To Me", opened the evening service at 7:45 o'clock.

This was followed by a prayer and silent period in memory of those who died within the last year, E. G. Robinson, D. B. Reynolds and Rev. Samuel Maitland. Miss Idagenne Mitchell again favored the group with a solo, this time on the violin, Intermezzo" by Mascagni, accompanied by William Hoffman.

Helen and Miriam Shindledecker, of Edinboro, sisters of the pastor, presented a duet, accompanied by Mrs. Wallace, who also played the offertory, "Adoration". Reminiscences of old members were given by Ralph McFarland and the scripture lesson was read by Rev. Shindledecker. Rev. Wilson Reid, pastor of the Harbor U. P. church, offered the evening prayer, followed by another duet by the Shindledecker sisters.

The speaker of the evening, Rev. K. E. Shindledecker, pastor of Edinboro Methodist church, and father of Rev. O. G. Shindledecker, was then introduced and chose as his theme, "Suffer Me First—", telling of excuses which were made for not immediately following The Master.

In closing the service, the pastor thanked all those who in any way helped to make the memory of this homecoming one to be long cherished by those who attended. "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was sung by the congregation and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. O. G. Shindledecker.

Successful in every detail, much credit is due the various committees and department heads who aided in making the homecoming a long-to-be-remembered event.

New Bedford Pastor Goes To Ohio Church

Rev. G. Ousley Brown Leaving Hopewell Presbyterian Church This Week

After an acceptable pastorate of eight years in the Hopewell church, New Bedford, the Rev. G. Ousley Brown has consented to take over the pastorate of the First Presbyterian church at Fredricktown, Ohio which will take effect September 8.

Rev. Brown came to the Hopewell church, a senior graduate and in addition to his pastorate was employed for several years as director of boy's work at the Campbell Christian Neighborhood House. He labored with untiring zeal in each place. New members, numbering 47 have been received into the congregation during these years; a notable increase has been made in benevolences; and many noted improvements have been made on the church building.

Much regret is expressed by the Hopewell congregation at his leaving and the kindest wishes for his happiness and success in his new field go with him.

Sixty-Five Fail In Auto Driver's Test

Fifty-Three Pass Examinations To Become Drivers Tuesday

NEXT TESTS OCCUR ON SEPTEMBER 10

Pennsylvania motor police in Sampson street Tuesday examined 118 applicants who took a test to operate a motor vehicle in this state. Of those examined only 53 passed. Tests will be given again next Tuesday.

Those who won the privilege yesterday passed a visibility test, color blind examination, demonstrated their fitness to drive an auto and qualified as to their knowledge of state motor laws.

Those who failed may receive another examination next Tuesday, providing they have not failed three consecutive times and the time limit on their learner's permit has not expired before that date.

All those who aspire to a test next week, beginning at 9 a. m. must have their learner's permit and have it signed in ink. They must also be accompanied by a licensed operator who must have his license and also a registration card for the car.

Many of the persons who visit the test station fail to have their learner's permit properly signed. They are not given the test until the cards are signed. This is also applicable to the licensed driver's license and registration card.

The lights on a car must be operating. Whenever a light does not work the applicant or owner must take the car to a garage and have it repaired before a test is given.

Judging from the number of applicants who fail the motor police are "bearing down" and none but the fit can secure a license. By giving stiff examinations the examiners hope to help minimize accidents.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

There is a long incubation period in rabies or hydrophobia.

The average between dog bite and rabies is 50 to 60 days.

Some cases have not developed until a year after the bite.

Location of the bite has a great deal to do with this.

The rabies virus travels along nerves to reach the brain.

Therefore, bites on the face and head develop more rapidly.

Size and extent of injury are important, too.

A large wound will contain more of the animal's saliva.

The larger the wound, the more nerve fibers exposed.

Dog bites cause most cases of rabies in this country.

A human developing rabies invariably dies a horrible death.

Rabies can be prevented by adequate dog control laws.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HEALTH PRECAUTION FOR SCHOOL

(This is the third of a series of special articles on preparing the child for school, written for The News by the personal physician to the Dionne Quintuplets, who are themselves starting regular schoolwork for the first time this month.)

About the most important thing parents can do to insure a child having a good start in school life is to see that his health is so protected that he misses no school through illness.

When I was a boy attending the little country school, we all missed a lots of days every year through mumps, whooping cough, measles or one of the more common communicable diseases. Today, next to colds these communicable diseases still cause more time to be lost at school than any other reason.

When I was a boy, these epidemics of "childhood" diseases came along almost every year. I think we rather looked forward to them too, as a reason for a holiday. In those days the common belief was that every child must have these diseases, so the sooner he got them over with the better. No one took precautions against them.

Today we know children do not have to, and should not run the gamut of infectious diseases. Now we do everything to prevent these diseases, for although they may be of a mild character, very often they leave behind a weakness that stays with the individual all his life. Some times it is the eyes that are affected, sometimes the heart, or the kidneys, or the ears. Men are sometimes sterile because of an attack of mumps in boyhood.

So parents of children starting to school this month, owe it to them to see that they are protected as far as possible against these diseases. Up to now, these children have been leading a comparatively secluded life within the home. With the beginning of school, they rub elbows with children from many homes, and sooner or later one of them will come in contact with another child who is carrying the bug that causes one of these diseases referred to above.

Before the child starts to school, take him to your family doctor, if you haven't already done so, and have him toxoided—immunized against diphtheria. The latter is mandatory anyway, and the earlier you have it done the better.

When you have done this, you have taken precautions against two of the most serious diseases that can strike your child. All the Quintuplets have been both toxoided and vaccinated, and they are much more protected from infection than is the ordinary child.

Toxoiding is not a serious discomfort to a child, and the younger it is the less reaction it gets from it. Vaccination is the same. It doesn't bother children now for vaccination has come a long, long way in the last few years. Vaccines are much purer and reactions much less severe.

At the same time ask your doctor about protection against other diseases. They now have developed serums for most of them, but results aren't so sure. I amagine he will suggest that nothing be done about them, unless there is an epidemic and in that case he will probably suggest some sort of immunization.

A trip to the dentist is a good idea also. In other words, a child should have a complete checkup, to insure he's in the best possible physical shape for school.

A DR. DAFOE HINT

The younger schoolchild needs a maximum of rest and sleep at night. He must have regular hours, with movies, radio and other things that ordinarily keep him or her up late, restricted to Friday and Saturday nights. At the beginning of school age, chances are the child needs a larger bed equipped with a heavier mattress, and a room by itself, to insure complete rest.

Aliens In Jail And County Home To Be Registered

Registration and fingerprinting of aliens in the Lawrence county jail and county home will be arranged during the next few weeks by Postmaster William R. Hanna.

The general registration at the Federal building resumed Tuesday with "quite a crowd on hand," Hanna reported. Aleardy exhausted is the local supply of registration forms, and more are expected soon.

Hanna said about 600 either have been registered here already or have indicated they will be soon. He said the local staff "one of these days" will start visiting Bessemer, Hillsville, Edenburg and West Pittsburg to accommodate aliens in those sections.

Hanna will confer with Sheriff M. M. "Cy" Ingham and Perry L. Snyder, county home head, over the registration at the county institutions.

Lincoln Reunion To Recall Oldsters

Many Former Residents Of Old Slab Town Will Be Here For School Reunion

When the annual Lincoln school reunion for former pupils of that school who attended between 1880 and 1900, takes place in the old school of Long avenue, Friday evening, many former residents of Slab Town, or Brown's Addition as it was first known, will be present to greet friends of 50 years ago.

The reunion has been arranged not only for the former teachers and pupils of the old Lincoln school, but also for former residents of the community, who located in that district when Brown's Addition was opened as a realty development, and who had much to do with the building of the South Side district of the city when industrial expansion was at its height.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters intended for this column must be signed with name and address of writer.

August 31, 1940.

Mr. J. F. Rentz,
News Co.,
New Castle, Pa.
Dear Mr. Rentz:

The success of the benefit game for the Red Cross, between the City All Stars and the Old Time Rieck baseball teams was due to the efforts of your sports writer, "Bugs" Walther, and the New Castle News.

The publicity given this game was a big help and I must say that I received a lot of comments on it.

It sure is wonderful to know that we have a newspaper in our city that is so willing to help out for such a good cause.

Thanking you and "Bugs" for your efforts, I am,

Very truly yours,
M. J. DONOVAN.

Nearly 2,000,000 Pupils Assemble In Schools Of State

Registration Is Lower Than 1939

Decline In Birth-Rate And More Employment Cut Enrollment

ABOUT 140,000 IN SCHOOL FIRST TIME

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Sept. 1.—School bells have summoned more than 1,800,000 pupils back to classrooms in Pennsylvania's 11,350 public and parochial schools after summer vacation.

A 10-year decline in the birth-rate and increased job openings for youths in industries spurred by the defense program combined to drop school registrations by approximately 100,000 below the 1939 figure. The department of public instruction listed 1,922,276 pupils in the last school year.

Under terms of the Pennsylvania school code, students shall attend school for at least 180 days, excepting in fourth class districts where a minimum of 160 days is permitted for elementary and junior high school pupils.

Officials estimated that the September class would include approximately 140,000 children getting their first taste of school.

Department of public instruction records listed 1,922,276 pupils during the past school year.

Biggest worry of the state's educators is the severe drain upon male teaching personnel threatened by the compulsory military training bill now being considered by congress.

Dr. Clarence E. Ackley, deputy superintendent of public instruction, said that plans were almost completed for replacements in posts held by 17,616 men "many of whom would be immediately eligible for conscription."

Male Teachers Affected

Department officials estimated between 3,000 and 5,000 male teachers would be affected by the draft if the proposed 21 to 31 age limit is retained.

Officials point out that there is an abundance of reserve male high school teachers for academic courses but vocational instructors will be scarce if they are attracted to lucrative positions under the defense program.

Teachers drafted by the military, however, are protected by a 1917 statute which gives employes of the state and its political sub-divisions a protective leave of absence if they "enlist, enroll or are drafted" in the country's military or naval service. The law provides for half-salaries, not exceeding $2,000, and the money be paid to dependents.

International Law Violated By U. S. Germany Asserts

Inferential Charge Is Made In Editorial In German Paper

(International News Service)

Most far-reaching news of the day came from the diplomatic front—from Roumania, where Premier Ion Gigurtu resigned from office, and from Germany, where an inferential charge was made that the United States violated international law by exchanging 50 American destroyers for British naval bases.

The charge was made in an editorial in the Hamburger Fremdenblatt, official mouthpiece of the German foreign office. In an editorial the Fremdenblatt charged: "It cannot be overlooked that the deals were made possible through an autocratic act by competent quarters in Washington, who apparently forgot that the American neutrality act prohibits the sale of war material to belligerents."

Fire Siren Wails, But Just For Test!

Neshannock Volunteers Try Out New Equipment; Brings Phone Calls

Neshannock township's volunteer firemen tried out their new "come and help" siren last night—and many a curious soul made telephone inquiry to township homes and garages.

There was no fire.

The siren's shrill wail carried over part of the North Hill, and some residents grew concerned over it. That brought on the phone calls.

The volunteers only recently organized and are making plans to install three such sirens at scattered points in the township, to summon help when needed, James Messner, firemen's president, indicated. Last night's test was made near the Charles G. Tanner garage, atop Highland Heights hill.

News Briefs From City Hall

William H. Dunlap, director of streets, today stated that the city's shovel, which has been out of operation was repaired last night and is being used now to remove dirt from the stream bed of the Big Run. The sewer which was relocated is almost completed, he stated.

City employes have cleaned rubbish from a plot of the east side of Sampson street. Persons had been dumping not only rubbish but garbage there according to city officials, hence the improvement. It may be available as a playground next year.

Police were informed last night that a "Peeper" was operating in Atlantic avenue. Similar reports have been received recently from various sections. One alleged "Peeper" when caught was sentenced not to leave the sidewalk at night and to be in his home at 9 p. m.

PLEADS GUILTY TO NUMBERS' CHARGE

When taken before Alderman James C. Brice Tuesday afternoon on a charge of being connected with the numbers' game, Nick Izzo, 1901 Hamilton street, pleaded guilty and gave bail for court. He was arrested by County Detective Paul S. Welsh and State Motor Policeman Miller.

(International News Service)

Travelers arriving from Hanoi reported the Japanese fleet has effectively blockaded the entire northeast coast.

French and native troops are manning all defense positions. Preparations are underway to evacuate French women and children from the coastal ports, according to dispatches from Haiphong.

The Japanese, who were reported to be prepared to enter Indo China on Friday if the French failed to agree to their demands to allow passage of troops through the colony, have postponed landing plans for two weeks, according to dispatches from Kumming.

Other reports, from reliable diplomatic quarters, state that the Franco-Japanese negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily.

Make Report Of Canadian Trip

Returning home from several days visit at Niagara Falls and the Toronto Exposition, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Crawford, Huron avenue, with their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Crawford, Wilmington avenue, report an interesting trip. They especially enjoyed, on route 8 between Hamilton and Toronto, the acreage of fruitlands showing expert care in the uniform low growths of trees and vines loaded with fine fruits of all kinds. The soil, they report, is also kept in a perfect state of cultivation.

Among the exposition attractions they heard Goldman's band from New York. Returning to Hamilton on the new Queen Elizabeth highway, built for speed and safety, they visited a rock garden on the plateau above Hamilton which they thought most beautiful. In spite of the European war, they report, Canada welcomes United States visitors and wishes them to inform their friends of their hospitality.

Gridders Prepare For Opening Game

Grove City High Will Be Here Friday Night For Curtain Raiser On 1940 Season

New Castle High Outlook Is Good—Friday's Game Starts At 8 O'Clock

New Castle high's big "Red Hurricane" football team will open the 1940 season here Friday night at Taggart Stadium by meeting the fast Grove City high team The game starts at 8 o'clock under the lights.

There are seven home games this year as follows: Grove City, Butler, Youngstown East, Beaver Falls, McKeesport, John Adams of Cleveland and Campbell Memorial. The 1940 card is one of the toughest for many years. Games away are carded with Sharon, Johnstown, Washington and Warren.

Sprinkling Of Veterans

There is only a sprinkling of veterans left from the 1939 team: McKee, Roberts and Morgan being first stringers, then there is Burris, Ciazza, Adamo, Temenski, Bucci and Audino from the first string reserve list, along with the Izzo twins, Joe and Ben.

The week in camp served to teach the boys the fundamentals of the game. The few sessions this week at the stadium will be for the purpose of smoothing up the plays and applying the polish that is necessary for the opening battle.

Show Up Well

There are a few boys who made such a fine showing at camp that they are almost sure to see a lot of action Friday night They are: Dick Biddle, a big 200-pound boy who is trying hard to fill the shoes vacated by Lindy Lauro, Masters and Scarazzo, a couple of fine looking tackles, Parou, Tomallelo and Gunn, all end candidates.

The shoulder injury to young Freddie McKee, the quarterback, is not as serious as thought at first, and there is every indication that he will start Friday night. Sammy Ciazza is bothered with a bad leg, but it is responding to treatment and he will more than likely be a starter. Larry Roberts and Joe Izzo will probably be the other starters in the backfield.

Stadium Is Beehive

Taggart Stadium is a beehive of excitement these days. There are only two days left to get the stage set for the opening battle. The lights are being renovated, seats painted and cleaned, the goal posts scrubbed. Friday night is to be a big night, you better plan to be among those present.

There is a swell green carpet of grass on the playing field, thanks to the care that the Franklin high janitors and school board have exercised. The team will not set foot on the playing field proper until the dress rehearsal on Thursday night. They have a field apart from the regular field for workouts.

MADISQN, Wis.—Orville Fox, Wisconsin letterman guard, will be out of action this fall with a broken leg suffered while sliding in a baseball game.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

New York Giants and the Eastern All-Stars will clash in New York City tonight and it is anticipated that the football eye-opener of the east will attract 40,000 customers. The game is being played for charity. In the four games played so far the eastern collegians have been vanquished easily. The collegians this season have a wealth of material, but no stand-outs of prominence. Among those on the All-Stars is John McLaughry of Brown, who will play fullback. His father, Tus, former Westminster star, has coached the collegians.

Johnny Welch, 33, former pitcher with the Boston Red Sox, Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs, died in a St. Louis hospital yesterday. He had been ill two years.

Mike Jacobs claims he has a contract with Eddie Meade, manager of Henry Armstrong, welterweight champion, which provides that the first defense Henry makes of his welterweight title must be made for Jacobs in New York City, hence indications are Armstrong will not fight Fritzie Zivic in Pittsburgh unless the snarl is untangled.

Jimmy Bivins of Cleveland defeated Charley Burley of Pittsburgh in 10 rounds at Hickey park, Millvale, last night. Burley made the error of waiting until the last three rounds to wage a vicious attack.

Tommy Spiegal, state lightweight champion, and Johnny Rucker will fight 10 rounds tonight in Uniontown for the title. The winner may meet Sammy Angott, NBA lightweight champion.

Bobby Riggs, Frank Kovacs and Don McNeil, three of the seeded stars, came through in their matches in the national singles tennis championships yesterday at Forest Hills. Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble and Sarah Palfrey came through in the women's division.

Two Class A Softball Games

There are two class A softball games on the card for tonight, as foliows: Valentinos vs. Radiators, at the Rad field, and the East Side Civics vs. the Johnson Bronze, at the Gaston Park field. Both games start at 5:30 o'clock and will have a direct bearing on the second half championship race.

City-County Loop Meeting Tonight

City-County Independent Baseball League officials, commissioners and members of Pulaski South Hills, West Side and Union Civics will gather at 112 West Washington St. tonight at 7:30 o'clock, for an important meeting.

City Baseball Season Ended

Managers Have Final Meeting Tuesday Night—Windup 1940 Business

The 1940 City Baseball league season came to an official end last night at the St. Joseph Parish hall with a meeting of the managers of the various teams. Rev. Fr. Peter Schirra was in charge of the meeting.

Treasurer Michael "Jake" Babovsky was present and told the managers that their franchise money could be received at the Peoples Bank anytime during the next few days. A trophy for the league was discussed.

The Lawrence Indies are the 1940 champions and rightly so. They have a great team, and are deserving of all the praise that is being given them.

The matter of a banquet was not discussed. The league has promised to give the Lawrence Indies and Manager George Zidow the fullest support in their coming series with the Lawrence County league champions, either Ellwood or Bessemer.

White Sox Top Detroit Again

Shove Tigers Down To Third Place Half-Game Back Of Rampaging Yankees

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—Nobody in baseball is more popular than Jimmy Dykes, loquacious, cigar-chewing little boss of the White Sox.

Nobody knows more baseball than he; nobody's judgment of a ball player is more sound; and more, the records prove, is a shrewder trader.

And, until recently, his standing as a prophet put him away up in the top brackets among the soothsayers. He might still be up there in the prophetic league were it not for his own White Sox who refuse to heed Jimmy's predictions.

For instance, Jimmy has been telling everybody right along that Detroit couldn't lose the pennant. The Tigers, said Jimmy, had too much all around class and so his White Sox stepped right out and took eight straight games from the Tigers.

Tigers Lose Again

It's little things like that that make a fellow a bum as a prophet. However, nobody heard Jimmy complain yesterday when his white sox minions hopped on Fred Hutchinson, Hal Newhouser and Clay Smith for seven runs in the very first frame and went on to win, 10 to 2, behind Jack Knott's six-hit pitching.

The defeat dropped the Tigers four games behind the Indians and half a game back of the Yanks, and if they are going to make Jimmy look good as a prophet they will have to show something in their series with the league-leaders starting today.

The Tigers still have nine games left with Cleveland and those games could easily decide which club will meet the Reds in the world series. If the games are split 5 and 4 the Yanks might step in and grab it all.

The Yanks won 20 of 23 home games and if they can continue anything like that torrid pace, they will breeze into the pennant. The Yanks are confident they can catch and pass the Indians and the fact that they have a long western trip ahead of them next week doesn't affect their confidence at all.

Reds About In

The Reds seem to have their pennant virtually in the bag. They are now eight full games ahead of the Dodgers with only 27 left to play. An eight-game lead at this late stage might almost lead cautious Bill McKechnie to intimate that his club has a fair chance to win.

The Reds are winning the close ones and that's always a sure sign of class. Day after day they have been coming in on the right side of those 1-0, 2-1, 3-2 and 4-3 games and yesterday, in the lone game played in the National, the Reds made no exception to their rule.

They nosed out the Cards, 4-3, when Jimmy Wilson, who celebrated his 40th birthday July 23, doubled off Clyde Shoun in the eighth. It will be quite a sight to see Jimmy behind the plate in the world series.

'Alley Rats' Hear 25th Reunion Call

High School Athletes Of Early Day Gathering September 19

New Castle's "Alley Rats" social organization composed of New Castle high school athletes of earlier days, will hold their 25th annual reunion at Camp Ne-Ca-Hi, Senior high school's football training grounds along Muddy Creek, Thursday, September 19, Earl D. "Cappy" Harlan, one of the group's prime boosters, announced today.

The annual invitations from "Alley Rat Town" have been mailed to scores of members throughout this section, Harlan said.

The "Alley Rats" organized when most of the men were in high school here, and since has continued to keep active. Outings held every fall, draw members from far and near. The group permantly adopted its odd name after it had met for a time, shortly after organizing, in a building along a downtown alley.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

A Pinch of Most Everything—Archie Shoup, Jr., and "Powerhouse" Hribar, who are drilling with the Youngstown college grid squadron at Camp Fitch, Pa., are causing Coach Dike Beede to smile The ex-Bessemer products loom as two of the key men on the Penquin roster. Shoup is waging a winning battle for one of the half slots, while Hribar is vieing for one of the posts on the line, the center berth.

This season's 1940 junior high championship scramble will be a two-way battle. Since Mahoningtown has junked the sport, Ben Franklin and George Washington will crash head-on for the coveted ribbon. Despite the fact that both clubs were heavily hit by graduation, Franklin and Washington anticipate rugged aggregations.

Grove City High, New Castle's opening opponent, will play twice in Lawrence county during the '40 swine hide parade. Following the tiff with the "Hurricane" edition, the Grovers return here on Friday, Oct. 4, to skip the lines with Union Township High. The Grovers are confident of hitting a clean 1.000 here.

For the first time in many years grid rosters of Pitt, Duquesne and Carnegie Tech do not include the name of at least one Lawrence countian. Over a span of more than 20 years local schools have supplied plenty of grid timber for the Smoky City. Offhand, the list includes Paul Cuba, Paul Reider, "Zip" Sergeant, Alex Fox, Nickie DeCarbo, Art Craft, Phil Tammaro, "Chuck" Fleming, Walt Raskowski and Dr. W. W. Horner.

A few oddities collected from the major leagues: After 16 seasons of hurling, lean Tex Carleton, Brooklynite, walked a man to force in a run. It beat him, 3-2, in Boston . . . Rollie Hemsley, Cleveland's reformed catcher, handled 480 chances from September 5, 1939, to August of this season without a miscue . . . Here's one for Ripley: The Dodgers haven't lost a game in the Polo Grounds this year!

Someone figured out that the draft bill is a lifesaver for Billy Conn The bill will prevent handsome Billy from meeting Joe Louis With Van Thompson, Bob Suffridge, Johnny Butler, Ed Molinski (ex-Massillon star), Bob Foxx, Abe Marshall Shires and Captain Norbert Ackerman back, you won't have to be told that Tennessee looms as one of the strongest grid forces in the land.

Penn Grid Outlook Best In 30 Years

Six Lettermen From Last Year To Report, Dozen Varsity Veterans Are Back

Coach George Munger And His Staff Are Not Much Worried, 44 Will Report

By WATSON FENIMORE
International News Service Sports Editor

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 4.—Bulwarked by six lettermen from last year, by a dozen varsity veterans and by sophomores from 1939's undefeated freshman team, Penn today has a challenge to rise to football heights unattained by any Quaker eleven in three decades.

"Cautious but hopeful," is a three-word characterization of Coach George A. Munger and his staff as they face a "blue-ribbon," bicentennial year schedule which lists Maryland, Yale, Princeton, Michigan, Navy, Harvard, Army and Cornell as foes on successive Saturdays.

It's a program which Munger admittedly views with concern, but by no means with alarm. In fact, the roster of formidable "ivy league" and service team opponents already has served to act as an inspiration to his candidates, he said.

"I think they realize the opportunity the schedule presents and are going to make every possible sacrifice to put Penn on top," Munger predicted. "We have a good many veterans from last year and material from a good freshman team. Things are still questionable, but it we can get this group working together the way we want to, Penn ought to have a good team.

44 Will Report

Forty-four players will report at Franklin field September 12 and leave the following day for Hershey, Pa., for two weeks of work. A week of practice at home will intervene before the opening game with Maryland, October 5.

"They're the most 'whooped-up' bunch in years," said Munger, who is counting heavily on his team's enthusiasm for a good showing during Penn's 200th anniversary celebration this year.

Backfield prospects have been brightened by the return of Johnny Dutcher, the Wisconsin lad who looked impressive in 1938 but broke his collarbone in the Lafayette game last year. Dutcher's availability at wing back is expected to improve the game of Eddie Allen, whose weakness at pass defense last year hurt Penn's play. Relieved of the necessity of playing Dutcher's position, Allen will return to his preferred post at fullback.

Fine Backfield

Without the worry of quarterbacking, Frank Reagan is expected by Munger to show considerable improvement as a tailback while veteran Jim Chandler calls the signals. Other backfield candidates include Herd Rainwater Tony Chizmadia and Bert Stiff, the 200-pound sophomore fullbacks; Johnny Welsh, outstanding 1939 frosh wingback, Gene Davis and Paul Wexler.

Capt. Harlan Gustafson, end, and Balfour Smith, guard, are the most serious of the 12 losses from last year's team. Capt. Raymond Frick at center will be the rallying point of the line this year. Cliff Engler, Rix Yard and John Donaldson, of Chester, are tackle candidates. Guards include Irvin Mendelson, Al Brechka, Bob Hunt and Fred Brown, Len Warner and Bernard Kuczynski, expected to make a varsity berth in his sophomore year, are end probabilities.

The schedule: Oct. 5, Maryland, home; Oct. 12, Yale, home; Oct. 19, Princeton, home; Oct. 26, Michigan at Ann Arbor; Nov. 2, Navy, home; Nov. 16, Army, home; Nov. 23, Cornell, home.

Scout Drive Funds Reported To Council

Many Reports Given At First Meeting Of Fall Season Of Boy Leaders

ELLWOOD CITY, Sept. 4—A detailed report of the financial campaign which has been in progress since last spring was given at the September meeting of the Boy Scout Council last evening by the general chairman, J. J. McLaughlin.

With Boyd Barrett conducting the meeting in the absence of the president, Charles Carbeau, Mr. Mc Laughlin stated that a total of $1,500 had been raised and that the campaign will be conducted indefinitely.

In a camp report, it was shown that the total boys in camp paying $5 a week left a deficit of $170 for the year. The Council was glad to make up the deficit believing that camping is one of the most important phases of scouting.

H. B. Gills, camp director, gave a splendid detailed report of the past season during which there were 97 boy weeks. He asked that the camp capacity of 40 boys be filled each week next year and that the charge be $6 per week to cover the entire cost of camping operations. Mr. Gills also requested that definite consideration be given improvement of the drinking water system at the camp before next year. He also set aside the second Saturday of June, 1941, as a day for all scouters to work at the camp.

Rev. A. M. Stevenson, told of the progress of advancement during the summer and outlined a new procedure for the coming year.

Activities chairman, Joe Connell, announced plans for a field meet in October, with the definite date to be decided.

Dr. Dickson reported that a new troop has been organized at Wampum with Earl Herbert as scoutmaster. Elden Danner, E. B. Yahn and J. J. Finnessy will meet with the new troop on Thursday night.

The leadership training course will be concluded with a week end camping trip this fall.

All troop scribes are to meet for pointers in writing with W. F. Kegel, on Tuesday, September 17, at 4 p. m.

The resignation of E. J. Liebendorfer, chairman of the board of advancement, was tabled until a later meeting on Tuesday, Oceober 1.

SYLVAN HEIGHTS LEAGUE

Sylvan Heights players met in the final matches of the season at Sylvan Heights course, with the New Castle Moose and Scarazzo's tied for first place going into the final games. When the smoke of battle had cleared away, it ended in an argument as to who had actually won.

Fenton's, opponents of Scarazzo's, had a full team in the field and halved their match with the league contenders at 3 all, while Unions opponents of New Castle Moose, had but four men in the field and won two of these, making the count Moose 4, Unions 2. The argument hinged over the contention that someone on the Moose team had told someone on the Unions team that the match would not be played and the player did not show up. League officials will meet to decide the final outcome.

A meeting has been called by President Geno Veri for Sunday afternoon at the Sylvan Heights clubhouse to make arrangements for the banquet which will wind up the season's activities, when awards will be distributed. In the meantime, the Shenango Pottery team, winner of the first half, will meet whoever the league officials decide is winner of the second half, in an 18-hole match for the league title.

The results last evening were as follows: Shelby Social 6, Herge's 0; Duca D'Abruzzi 4½, Universal Sanitary & Manufacturing Co. 1½; Fenton's 3, Scarazzo's 3; Ellwood City Saxons 4½, Ellwood City Moose 1½; Shenango Pottery 4½, Saegertown G. A. 1½.

Louis Malls, Jimmy Pagley and George Hahn of Scarazzo's and Tobe Fenati of Moose tied for medal honors with 37's, one over par figures, showing how desperate they were trying to win. Chuck Perrotta had a 38 and Hackett Kennedy, Pete Dimeco and Frank Summers had 39's.

FROM ME TO YOU

It's funny how the human race will act . . . a popular movie actress was making a personal appearance some time ago and during her program sang a popular song, the audience literally stampeded the theatre . . . She waited until the whistle and applause subsided, then raised her hand and in a serious mood, said to that audience . . . "Folks, listen to me. You can raise your children in a most wholesome atmosphere until they are twenty-one. You may have them walking all the glorious avenues of life and I can send anyone of them to Hell in five minutes" . . . now we are not giving this little picture to deface any movie queen but thought it might give you food for thought . . . to us it illustrates the way false leaders try to feed us with the poison pills of impossible promises and win us away from the game which we used to play under the original rules. We can't be too careful of our liberties . . . once they are lost they are twice as hard to recapture.

Things are really changing . . . especially in romance. The fellow across the room says that the way he figures, it must be six years since any young man has given a box of candy to any young lady in his block . . . maybe it's because the kid brothers demand nickles instead.

* * *

With fall just around the corner . . . some of the good people of New Castle will be thinking up ideas for that ever famous past-time buffet lunch. After the game or after a Saturday afternoon hike . . . and also on Sunday evening . . . but whenever it may be . . . it's always popular. Something different for on a chilly evening would be to take individual plum puddings and heat them over a chaffing dish or in the oven until they are steaming hot . . . place on a warm platter and pour over all a small quantity of rum . . . light this and then when the flame is gone cover with Frigid Cream . . . remember not too much rum as a bitter taste will result with raw rum. Frigid Cream is nothing more than thick coffee cream poured into a freezing tray at eight o'clock and removed at about nine-thirty or just when the cream begins to get nice and frosty (not frozen). This Frigid cream makes the dish.

Remember the classified ad page . . . there is always something interesting . . . do you believe in ghosts? Then read tomorrow's column.

Ordinance No. 90

An ordinance of the Borough of Wampum, of Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, relating to the sanitary sewer system, regulating the use thereof, prescribing the manner of making connections therewith, requiring the owners of property abutting upon and accessible to the line of any of said sewers to make connections therewith, regulating the discharge of industrial waste into said sewers and prohibiting the emptying or discharging of storm water or rain water, mineral oil, greases, and other viscous materials into said sewers, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof.

SECTION ONE

Be it ordained and enacted by the Borough Council of the Borough of Wampum, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same that where any property abuts upon or is accessible to the line of the sanitary sewer system of said Borough it shall be the duty of the owner or other person having charge or control of said property to make connection with said sewer system within forty-five (45) days after notice requiring the same given by the Borough Secretary.

SECTION TWO

That where any property abuts upon and is accessible to the line of the sanitary sewer system of said Borough it shall be the duty of the owner or other person having charge or control of said property to abandon any privy used in connection with said property, to clean or seal and fill any privy vault or cesspool or similar receptable for human excrement on said premises and said owner or person having charge or control of said property is hereby prohibited from making any connection from any privy vault, cesspool or septic tank to said sanitary sewer system.

SECTION THREE

The removing of the plug or stopper from any branch, the tapping of any sewer and the laying of the entire sewer from the "Y" or main sewer to the house drain shall be under the supervision of the Borough Secretary. No sewer shall be tapped without a permit from said Borough Secretary, for which the owner of property desiring to make connection with said sewer shall pay the sum of One Dollar ($1.00). All the joints in the said sewer or house connection, which are provided to be laid by this section, shall be made water-tight. Where the ground is of sufficient solidity for a proper foundation, cylindrical terra cotta pipe of the best quality, free from flaws, splits, or cracks, perfectly burned and well glazed over the entire inner and outer surfaces, may be used if laid on a smooth bottom with a special groove cut in the bottom of the trench for each hub, in order to give the pipe solid bearing on its entire length, and the soil well rammed on each side of the pipe. The spigot and hub ends shall be connected. The space between the hub and pipe must be thoroughly filled with cement mortar made of equal parts of the best American natural cement and sand, thoroughly mixed dry, and enough water afterwards added to give the proper consistency. The mortar must be mixed in small quantities and used as soon as made. The joints must be carefully wiped out and pointed and all mortar that may be left inside removed, and the pipe left clear and smooth throughout, for which purpose a swab may be used. Instead of using the American natural cement there may be used the best quality of American Portland cement, one part mixed with four parts of good clean sand or there may be used an approved asphaltic joint compound. Where the ground is not of sufficient solidity upon which to lay sewer pipe as hereinbefore provided the person or persons laying the said house connection must provide and make a foundation sufficiently solid on which to lay the said sewer pipe or otherwise use cast iron pipe the joints of which must be so filled with oakum and lead and hand caulked to make them gas-tight. In any event, the person or persons laying the said house connection may use cast iron pipe with lead joints as hereinbefore provided.

SECTION FOUR

No person or persons shall empty or discharge mineral oil, greases, or other viscous materials into any sewer trap or other opening into the sanitary sewer system of the Borough of Wampum and any person or persons being the owner, lessee, or person in charge of any premises who shall knowingly permit mineral oil, greases, or other viscous materials to gain entrance into or empty into any sewer drain or trap on said premises, which is connected with the said sanitary sewer system, shall be subject to the penalties hereinafter provided.

SECTION FIVE

No person or persons shall discharge or permit to be discharged storm water or surface water from pavements, areaways, roofs, or other sources into said sanitary sewer system and any person being the owner, lessee, or person in charge of any premises who shall make a connection with the sanitary sewer system of the Borough of Wampum so as to discharge storm water or roof water into said sewers shall be subject to the penalties hereinafter provided.

SECTION SIX

No person shall place or permit to be placed, or discharged or permit to flow into said sanitary sewer system any industrial waste without first having secured from the Borough Council an annual permit so to do. Before issuing said permit Council may require pre-treatment of said industrial waste if, in their opinion, said industrial waste would be objectional or deleterious to the sewage plant which forms a part of said sanitary sewer system. "Industrial waste" shall be construed to mean any liquid, gaseous, or solid substance, not sewage, resulting from any manufacturing or industry.

SECTION SEVEN

Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, upon conviction before the Burgess or any Justice of the Peace of said Borough, shall pay a fine not exceeding One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) and costs, at the discretion of the Burgess or Justice of the Peace before whom the case is tried, and in default of payment thereof the defendant may be committed to the County jail for a period not exceeding thirty (30) days.

Stock Market Steady Today

Market Drifts Lower After Steady Start, Trading Moderately Active

By LESLIE GOULD
(International News Service Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The stock market drifted a shade lower today after a generally steady opening, as light selling filtered in toward the close of the first hour. Losses were modest in most instances, however, and several sections bucked the trend for gains.

Trading was moderately active, 100,000 shares changing hands in the initial hour and about as much between 11 and 12 o'clock.

Steels, chemicals and mail orders were leaders on the decline. Montgomery Ward, Air Reduction and Union Carbide, along with Celanese in textiles, each slipped a point or more before meeting support.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem replaced early fractional gains with losses of almost a point. General Motors and Chrysler followed a similar pattern. Active coppers, aviation shares, and electrical equipments also were backward.

Outstanding strong spot was U. S. Rubber on a climb of well over a point. Rails also held at or slightly above last night's closing levels, while Eastman Kodak and Loft each chalked up gains of about a point.

Two New Teachers In Faculty For Year—Hillsville Pupils In High School

(Special To The News)

BESSEMER, Sept. 4.—Bessemer Borough Schools began the 1940-41 term with two new teachers on the faculty. Miss Alma Adams is the Art teacher and supervisor, succeeding Mrs. Doris Wise, who is this year teaching in Zelienople. Robert H. Lytle is the instructor in Hygiene and Social Studies, succeeding Charles Moore, who transferred to Butler High School. Mr. Lytle will assist in the coaching of athletics also. Miss Adams is a graduate of Carnegie Tech and Lytle is a graduate of Edinboro Teachers College.

Enrollments were slightly under the number of last year in the grade schools, but the high school figures are about the same. Six or seven new entrants enrolled in the high school from other schools. Nearly fifty ninth grade pupils from Hillsville began their high school work today. The entire Mahoning Township enrollment in the Bessemer High School in round numbers is 150.

The school buildings have been newly painted outside during the summer, and the high school auditorium interior has been renovated. Seven young men, working on an NYA county project, washed down the walls and refinished the brick surface with white shellac.

Lions Thrill Again To Collegian's Tales Of Europe Bike Tour

Young John Galbreath of Westminster college yesterday brought to the New Castle Lions club exciting recollections of a bicycle adventure through crisis-worn Europe in 1939.

Galbreath, who was there before the conflict broke, had appeared before the club earlier, but the tales he told Tuesday in The Castleton were just as enlightening as those he told before. The speaker is a son of President Robert F Galbreath of Westminster.

Co-operation of the Lions was asked for New Castle's gala Armistice Day parade November 11 by Frank Sargent, past commander of Neshannock Post 315, Veterans of Foreign Wars. He said all service clubs would be enlisted for the parade and general celebration.

Lion William Cobau, head of the club's educational committee, opened a short series of brief weekly talks on "The History of Lionism." From time to time he will recall some of the interesting points in the growth of the great service organization.

A guest of the club yesterday was G. Ward Whittaker, office manager of the Universal Sanitary & Manufacturing Co.
